General Comments:

You just don't find them like Trevor anymore. He was exceptional in all categories listed. He was always early, stayed late to help, formed relationships with the students, and he taught with great patience and genuine interest in helping the student to learn. His teaching ability reflected that of a seasoned teacher; I was always impressed with the many ways he would go about trying to get a student to understand something without frustrating them. They really enjoyed when they could work with Trevor as they were comfortable being vulnerable with him when they didn't understand something.
